BOVRIL AT THE

FRONT. Borril has played such a conspicuous part in South Africa that it forms no inconsiderable feature of the story. The 'Lancet' has had frequent references to Boyril in the reports of the officers of the Royal Army Medica Corps. Nearly every newspaper correspondent has had to refer to Bover; to make his story complete. Rudyard Kipling and Baden Powell have written their Boyril stories. Over 500 British hospitals and similar public institutions use and prescribe Bovril, not 8.45 p.m. and 9 p.m., 9.45 p.m. to 11.16 beef tea, but Bovril.

The reason is not far to seek. Bovril a neuroisher as well as a stimulant. It contains the albumen and fibrine. sustaining properties of the beef. It this fact, together with its absolute purity that commends Boyril to physcians and scientists, and proves in practice what it

The Reception at the India Office. London, July 11. - Lord George "amilton said, in the House of Commons, that the reception at the India Office, on the 4th, was not an evening party, but a State ceremony of importance as commemorating the fact that, for the first time in the history of the country, the Soccreign at the Coronation occupied the position of lord paramount of India. July 14.—Replying to Mr Labouchere, Lord George Hamilton said that the Viceroy | Alge had not been consulted with reference to Aret the charges of the reception at the India Argo Office. The presentation of the Budget would afford an opportunity of discussing Bran the question of charges.

Another Scene in the French Chamber.

July 12.-A scene took place in the ·French Chamber as the result of an interpellation on the Government's action in Fam closing unauthorised religious schools. Neither interpellator nor the Premier was Fire able to obtain a hearing. The sitting was Golia suspended and a member censured. The Closing of the Indian Mints. Hart July 14. - Lord George Hamilton, in the | Hun

House of Commons, replying to Sir Edward | Iphi, Sassoon, said that the effects of closing the Jam mints upon Indian industry and agriculture | Kins had been considered by Sir Henry Fowler's Moor Currency Committee. No facts had been Muti-brought to notice which would invalidate Ocean the Committee's decision.

SUPREME COURT.

IN APPELLATE JURISDICTION. (Before the Full Court.) -Wednesday, 30th July, 1902.

LUEN NOW TO LUEN CHEUNG TAIL

The Chief Justice (His Honour W. Meigh Goodman) delivered judgment as follows: The writ in this case was issued on 29th January, 1905, by the Luca Mow firm, claiming against the Lucn Cheung Tai firm the sum of $355.87, balance alleged to be due from the defendant to the plaintiff in by the Lucu Mow firm after giving credit Kowloon. It would certainly be more confor payment already received. The tea venient to all concerned. I don't see the transactions took place in 1899, 1900 and necessity or advantage of dragging a lot of early in 1991, and it is not disputed that people to Kowloon to inaugurate a Park 27th February, 1902, and after the plain- it, and there you are No risks of clicited that the plaintiff firm was no longer time and trouble all round! As this is my carrying on business, the Luca Mow hav, solitary contribution to the Commation ing ceased buying and selling since 15th Celebration. I hope you will see your way October, 1902, although the firm was not to insert it in 'your valuable and widelyhave taken the objection that the plaintiffs it was sufficient if the firm was carrying on business within the jurisdiction at the time Court by the special case settled by the issue of the writ, within the meaning of the Code of Civil Procedure?" We are of of section 483 it is obvious that the objection is technical, going to the form, and not to the real merits of the action. If the plaintiffs had sued in the names of the individual partners instead of in the firm name, no objection of the kind could have been raised, and this was why the plaintiff's solicitor in the Court below, there upon, asked to have the writ amended by substituting the names of the individual partners constituting the firm, for the firm name. He contended that the Judge below had power to make this amendment under either Section 55 or Section 186 of the Code The Judge, however, held that he had no Britain would endeavour to maintain in such power, and nonsuited the plaintiffs. In my opinion, Section 55 of the Code confers the necessary power. That Section enacts, interalen that 'where it is doubtful whether an action has been commenced in the name of the right plaintiff, the Court may, it satisfied that it has been so commenced through a hada side mistake, and that it is necessary for the determination of the real matter in dispute to do so, order any other person to be substituted as plaintiff on such terms as may be just. In this case, assuming that the action ought to have been commenced in the names of the individual partners as plaintiffs instead of in the name of the firm, it seems, to me to be necessary of knowledge will grow best in soils to for the determination of the real which the art of 'lightening' has been apmatter in dispute, via, whether the balance claimed for tea supplied was due or not, to substitute the name of the partners for the name of the firm. In the Construction of Ordinances, ' Words in the singular shall include the plural': See section 2 of Ordinance No. 24 of 1897. I am of opinion that the Judge below had, in this case, power to substitute for the firm the individual parmers, and that such amend ment could injure or prejudice no one and should have been made. Some of the points submitted for the opinion of this Court we find in favour of the defendants, but as regards the main point, the power of amending, we find substantially in favour of the plaintiff. I say 'substantially' hecause we are asked whether the plaintiff was entitled to have the writ amended, and although I am not prepared to say he had a right to the amendment. I think the Judge, in his discretion, should in this case have allowed it. The justice of the case will be met by allowing the amendment and letting the case below continue at the point where it left off. This course the parties do not The twenty-three collieries have been object to, I understand. and pleasingly productive. In his article profusely illumnated to show the styles of Architecture in Lama temples, Mr Ernst Ludwig tokes us into the sacred precincts of the Yung Ilo Kung in Peking, one of the buildings visited by Prince Henry of Pruskin in 1898. Mr Ludwig's account of the worship and discipline practised in this, the principal institution of its class in the capital, gives a more exalted idea than could, we think, be gained elsewhere in China of present day Buddhism in the empire. A Peking despatch states that in the recent revision of the commercial treaty there are several articles in regard to the missionaries and converts, as follows .--

Art. 1. Converts cannot be registered as members of the church unless they have been proved to be people of good moral standing, having no unsuitled lawsuits. If this be not fulfilled the magistrate may send information to the missionary in charge to dismiss such converts from the church. Art. 2. According to the regulation made is 1899 converts may hand in their law cases to the magistrate and are required to be present in court for the hearing of the said cases within three months. No petitions through missionaries and consuls will be regarded to conform to the law. As missignaries do not take any share in law cases, officials should try their best to settle such cases in the right manner. Art. 3. If any case be in some way related to the church, or converts receive despites from others, or injustice done by officials because of being Christians, they have the right to appeal to the officials through missionaries and consuls for redressing their grievances.

Art. 4. With the exception of raising funds for idolations processions all converts with other people alike should give subscriptions to meet the Government public and benevolent expenses. Art. 5. It is not permitted to let Chris-
